3 BATTLE ROUTE Distance: 4.31 km Estimated time required: 1 h Difficulty: Easy

Description: These are three historic routes that commemorate the landing and conquest of Mallorca by King James I of Aragón in 1229. The routes feature monuments such as the cross commemorating the landing, the mountain of El Puig de Sa Morisca and La Capilla de la Piedra Sagrada (the Chapel of the Sacred Stone), among others. The main attraction of this itinerary is the archaeological park of Puig de Sa Morisca, where there is a high number of archaeological finds both from the Talaiotic and Islamic periods, as well as a great deal of ethnological elements derived from the exploitation of the forests of the area: casas de roter (small stone feudal farmers' huts), lime kilns, charcoal kilns, etc. The park also offers some incredible panoramic views of the province of Calvià, stretching from the coast to the mountains of Puig de Galatzó and La Mola de S'Esclop, as well as an impressive natural heritage including plant species such as Phoenician juniper (Juniperus phoenicea), jointfir (Ephedra fragilis), bufera or Withania frutescens, and wild olive (olea europaea).
